Rise, Tarnished: Legendary Elden Lords by Genso Previous Next Update on the war in the Lands Between … Update on the war in the Lands Between … The war between Shadows of Elden and Battle of the Sleeping Knights is increasing. World leaders gathered together and cast a great spell to seal the border between Silver City and Ancients' Domain, but it was not sufficient. After that, shadows began to appear in the Lands Between which surprised everyone. Although we fought back together, Shadows still functioned in the Lands Between to deceive and deceive us. The balance between the two powers was already greatly damaged. The Battle of the Sleeping Knights is getting more violent, and it is getting more intense. From the perspective of a decisive battle, a major war may be right around the corner. I would like everyone to understand that we are in a critical situation, so we will be concentrating our resources for a while. Tarnished Knights are fighting shadows. With the confirmation of the information, we were able to gather enough resources and equipment to fight, and we are committed to invading Shadows of Elden by force. While we are fighting the shadows, people in the Lands Between are excited about the imminent war. Battle of the Sleeping Knights From the perspective of those who are not engaged in battle, Elden Knights are fighting Shadows of Elden, and Shadows are fighting the Battle of the Sleeping Knights. Shadows, who are facing the Knights' battle, understand the truth and are looking for a new leader. They did not appear to be targeting Shadows. Although Shadows of Elden had no ability to contact with other Shadows, they did contact with the leaders of the mysterious Shadows in the Lands Between. At first, Shadows only wanted to deceive us in the same way as they did previously, and the darkness that was organized as one group did not appear. Although Shadows appear in the Lands Between, they do not have a coherent plan. Those who are close to the mystery also announced that Shadows are both working in the same direction, but the reality is that Shadows are not looking for us at all. However, Shadows are gathering in the Lands Between to contact their friends, and this has made us worried. Elden Knights are fighting Shadows in the same way they have been before. Although we are at a disadvantage in that we are bff6bb2d33
